Over 200 Nazi Planes Downed In Great Sky Battle Over Germany

JAPS TRAPPED
ON LEYTE, END
NOW IN SIGHTAMERICAN FORCES
MAKE JUNCTION
IN CARIGARA

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Friday, Nov. 3 (AP)—American forces have made a junction in Carigara, coastal town on Leyte's northwest coast, and are driving enemy remnants west and south toward Ormoc, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

The "end of the Leyte-Samar campaign is in sight," the communique reported, and Japanese casualties have risen to more than 30,000.

Elements of the 24th Division crushed final Japanese delaying forces in northwestern Leyte valley to effect the junction with elements of the First Cavalry Division.

West Coast Reached
Meanwhile, advance forces of the Seventh Division cut entirely across the lower portion of Leyte, reaching the west coast, 26 miles south of Ormoc.

"Final remnants of the enemy's forces," said the communique, "are now being driven into the small and confined Ormoc sector where they are enveloped on all three land sides by our ground forces."

The Japanese have sent reinforcement to Ormoc, from where some of these new troops are known to have been sent northward to bulwark forces in the Carigara Bay sector. Japanese remnants from the center of the island have been streaming both toward Carigara and Ormoc.

The 24th Division was "rapidly covering" the last six miles into Carigara, after punching up the northwestern arm of Leyte valley against bitter Japanese rear guard action.

Last Stand at Ormoc
The First Cavalry, which landed on Carigara Bay several days ago in a shore-to-shore movement, applied a squeeze from the east along the coast. The junction of the two forces has been proceeding since the 24th, after a forced 14-mile march, broke one of the fiercest Japanese stands at Jaro, last key highway center on the road to the bay.

On the southern end of the Allied sweep, the Seventh Division was pursuing "disorganized enemy parties" into the mountains, the communique said.

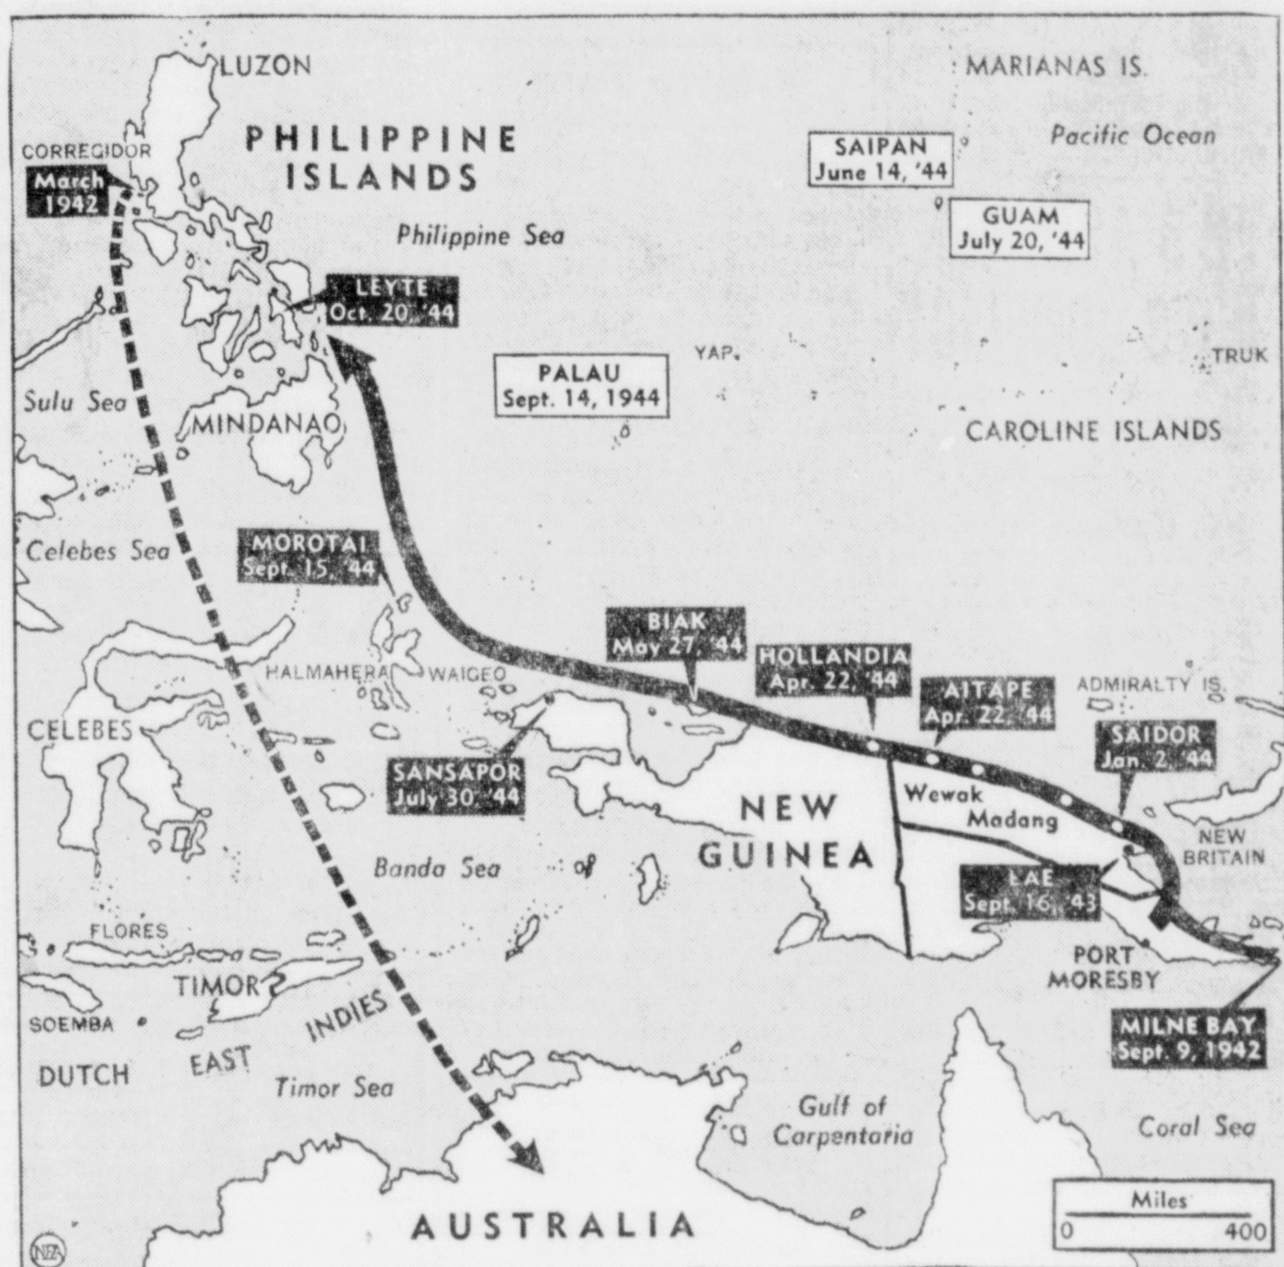

Yank infantrymen reached Baybay on the west coast, thus completing the southern arm of the giant squeeze against the Japanese who may stage their final ditch fight at Ormoc.

Japanese air activity, the communique said, was directed "principally against our shipping, which sustained some damage."

Units of the dismounted First Cavalry Division, advancing from the east, clashed sharply with enemy outposts at the suburbs of the town of probably 20,000 or more population. Forward elements that had penetrated the town earlier withdrew after determining the enemy's strength.

Six Yanks Cross
Rhine, Capture 31
German Soldiers

BY ROGER GREENE

On The British Front In Holland, Nov. 2. (AP)—Six American parachute troops crossed the lower Rhine, captured 31 German soldiers and coolly marched them back through enemy-held territory early today.

The six-man patrol slipped across the Rhine and marched inland before dawn Tuesday.

They reached an apparently deserted house at 4:15 a. m., found two German soldiers asleep and took them prisoner. Fifteen minutes later they wirelessly a report on their mission to the regimental command post across the Rhine.

The next day four more German soldiers were taken when they poked their noses into this American "outpost" to see what had happened to their two captured comrades.

Just before dusk, the patrol left one man to guard the prisoners and went off to set a vehicle trap which within a few minutes snared an army truck, an amphibious jeep and a motorcycle along with 16 more prisoners—most of them stiff-backed SS (elite guard) troops.

With the truck jammed with fuming prisoners, the patrol went merrily down the road until the vehicle bogged in the mud.

They got out to walk and a German SS captain tried to escape in the darkness. He was sent sprawling by a former football player's tackle, and came up muddled and cowed.

Nearing the river, the Americans lined up their captives two abreast and marched them through the blacked-out streets of the town without being challenged by German sentries, who took the party for six American prisoners under strong Nazi guard.

At the river's edge the six Americans silently charged a series of German pill boxes, capturing nine more prisoners for a total bag of 31. Outnumbered five to one, the Americans made several round trips to ferry the prisoners across the Rhine.

The patrol was led by First Lt. Hugo Sims, Raleigh, N. C. Others included: Pvt. Roland J. Wilbur, Lansing, Mich.

Charge Of Assault
Against Keyes Is Dropped In Court

Detroit, Nov. 2 (AP)—An assault and battery charge against Lieut. Governor Eugene C. Keyes was dismissed by Circuit Judge Ira W. Kane today when Mrs. Ethel Vetrovich withdrew her complaint.

Mrs. Vetrovich had said that Keyes engaged her son Stanley, 12, to fold campaign literature in the primary election campaign last summer and that the boy was slapped when Keyes became dissatisfied with his work.

The case came before Judge Jayne on an appeal by Keyes from a municipal court conviction. Keyes had been sentenced to pay a $25 fine and serve 15 days in jail. The sentence was stayed pending the outcome of the appeal.

CASUALTIES ARE HEAVY IN ITALY

Losses Of U. S. Troops
Total 90,000; Axis
Army Reinforced

Rome, Nov. 2. (AP)—American troops alone have suffered at least 90,000 casualties in the 14-month-old Italian campaign and there still is no sign the Germans are pulling out of the war-torn country, Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, Allied ground commander, said today.

(This apparently represented an increase of nearly 8,000 in the U. S. casualty toll in Italy since the Sept. 21 figure by Secretary Stimson.)

In acknowledging that the Allied assault on the enemy's Gothic line had come to an almost complete halt in the mud of the Po valley and the peaks of the Apennine Mountains, Gen. Alexander said "I can't tell how long it will take to drive them out, but it will be done."

The Germans have continued to send reinforcements into Italy, despite their reverses on the eastern and western fronts, the Allied commander disclosed. He admitted puzzlement at this enemy strategy, pointing out that Hitler already had suffered 194,000 casualties in Italy, including 34,000 killed and 104,000 wounded.

In their present defense of Bologna and the Po valley the Nazis are taking full advantage of an excellent road network to supply their troops. The Allies have extremely limited road facilities and have been additionally hampered recently by almost continuous rains.

'Mears Newz' Editor
Acquitted Of Libel

Hart, Mich., Nov. 2 (AP)—A six-man jury tonight acquitted Swift Lathers, eccentric editor of the diminutive "Mears Newz," of a charge of criminal libel.

The jury, told by Prosecutor William D. Bruster that "if you acquit Swift Lathers tonight, you will convict the sheriff," deliberated three hours before reaching a verdict and concluding a stormy four-day trial.

The criminal libel charge was brought by Sheriff Marland H. Littlebrant because of a story Lathers printed in the Newz about the fatal shooting by Littlebrant of a Mexican fruit worker when the latter resisted arrest.

U. S. BOMBERS
BLAST SOURCE OF REICH OILFIGHTER ESCORT OF
900 SETS RECORD
OF 155 KILLS

BY ROBERT EUNSON

London, Friday, Nov. 3 (AP)—American fliers destroyed 208 German planes yesterday when the Luftwaffe made its long-promised reappearance and was whipped in one of the great all-time aerial battles—a savage, whirlwind dogfight of 2,400 U. S. and Nazi planes over Merseburg in central Germany.

Following quickly on this decisive Allied triumph, more than 1,000 RAF bombers roared over western Germany after nightfall and delivered one of their heaviest blows at Dusseldorf, Rhineland industrial city behind the western front.

Flak Like Hail

In the huge daylight raid, 1,100 American heavy bombers blasted the Leuna synthetic oil plant at Merseburg and rail yards at Bellefeld and Rheine. Yank fliers in 900 escorting Mustangs and Thunderbolts set a new fighter record of 155 planes destroyed in the air and on the ground. Another fighter record of 130 shot down and a new combination bomber-fighter record—208—in planes destroyed this year during one day were compiled.

Officials reported that, of the 2,000 American planes, 41 bombers and 28 fighters failed to return. The pilots flew through the heaviest flak they have encountered in months—"it rattled like hail" on the wings and fuselage, one pilot said—and met upwards of 500 German fighters, including many green and black jet planes which, fliers said, "climbed straight up off the ground."

Luftwaffe Outgunned
In shooting down the 130 Nazis, the American fighter pilots surpassed the previous mark of 117 kills in aerial combat. They were opposed by many jet planes, four of which officially were reported shot down.

Today's large-scale appearance of the Luftwaffe was the first time that the Germans had come up in numbers to fight since Oct. 7. The German fliers—many of them apparently newly trained—were no match for the Americans.

REDS 23 MILES
FROM BUDAPEST

Swift Offensive Cleans
Up 60 Towns; Capital
Hears Roar Of Guns

BY W. W. HERCHER

London, Nov. 2 (AP)—Russian troops swept to within 23 miles of the Hungarian capital of Budapest today, capturing 60 towns and villages between the Danube and Tisza Rivers in a swift offensive aimed at knocking out the last big Axis war satellite.

A Moscow communique announced capture of Domsad, on the Danube's east bank 23 miles south of the great prize city; Kunzentmiklos, 27 miles south and slightly east of Budapest; and Tatarszentgyorgy, 26 miles south-east of the capital.

The roar of Russian guns could be heard in the imperiled capital, and by night the flash of the battles on the plains lit the skies, Moscow dispatches said.

Although German and Hungarian resistance was bitter it appeared to be crumbling as the Russians smashed through thick minefields and whittled down a staggered Axis defense of anti-tank guns.

The Soviet communique announced capture of 2,000 Germans and Hungarians during Wednesday outside Budapest, making a total of 7,518 taken between the Danube and Tisza rivers.

Japanese Stalled
In Kweilin Attack

Chungking, Nov. 2 (AP)—Stalled after four unsuccessful frontal attacks on Kweilin, the Japanese have sent a column sweeping around 12 miles to the south in an attempt to envelop this Kwangsi province gateway city, the Chinese high command announced tonight.

It's Time For A Change
(An Editorial)

It is not often that in a presidential campaign the state of the general health of a candidate for the presidency can be considered a legitimate issue. But the election of next Tuesday, measured by any yardstick, is far and away the most important in the history of the United States. The man named to head our government for the next four years must be possessed of a degree of virile personal health, that will permit him to do the most important job ever performed for the American people—to win the war, as well as the peace.

Undeniably President Roosevelt has slipped in the past four years. His once famed radio voice, in this campaign, is but the skeleton of that voice which once played, with such telling effect, upon the heartstrings of the American people. His personal physicians admit that his physical strength and his general health are not what they were, even a year ago.

Should President Roosevelt be reelected for a fourth term and become incapacitated, from any cause, for the future discharge of the duties of his high office, he would be succeeded by the vice president, to be elected next Tuesday.

The electors of America today, more than ever at a presidential election of the past, have a right and the duty to inquire into the qualifications and the background of the candidate for the vice presidency, who might become president of the government of this nation.

Senator Harry C. Truman, of Missouri, Mr. Roosevelt's running mate at this election, is a product of the Boss Pendergast machine, of Kansas City, the most iniquitous and the most powerful group of machine politicians that ever mulcted a city and state government, until their head man and many of his henchmen were sent to prison.

Senator Truman was hand picked by the great New Deal political bosses, that share honors with the Communists and the CIO Political Action Committee, in running the present New Deal campaign. His candidacy for the vice presidency was shoved down the throats of the delegates to the Chicago convention, with the admitted consent of President Roosevelt.

Senator Truman has publicly admitted that he owes his elevation to high political office to Ex-Convict Pendergast. It is such a man who might become president of the United States.

IT IS TIME FOR A CHANGE.

Paris Blast Blamed
On 5th Columnists;
21 Dead, 95 Injured

Paris, Nov. 2 (AP)—Explosion of a captured German ammunition train yesterday near a spot where Gen. Charles De Gaulle had spoken earlier killed 21 persons and injured 95, it was learned today. Exploding shells landed in five suburban communities and two wards.

The Communist newspaper Ce soir blamed Fifth Column activities. The National Writers Committee hinted that Vichites or enemy agents were responsible.

ROOSEVELT HITS
AT WHISPERINGS

Speech Sums Up Military
Successes And Home
Front Progress

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP)—President Roosevelt accused the opposition camp tonight of threatening "to build a party spite fence between us and the peace," and also struck out at what he termed wicked whisperings.

In a campaign speech prepared for radio delivery from the White House, the president said the threat consisted of statements that unless the Republican presidential candidate is elected Congress will not cooperate in the peace.

"I do not know who empowers these men to speak for the Congress in uttering such a threat," he said.

"Certainly the United States Senate and the House of Representatives showed no reluctance to agree with the foreign policy of this administration when, almost unanimously last year, they passed the Connally and Fulbright resolutions which pledged this nation to cooperate in a world organization for peace."

In speaking of "whispering and rumors," the president did not go into details. Asserting that he did not "propose to answer in kind," he declared the American people pay little attention to whispering campaigns.

Nor are they panicked, he said, by "hysterical last minute accusations or sensational revelations" any more than they were panicked by Pearl Harbor.

The president devoted much of his speech to a discussion of military successes abroad, the "tremendous productive achievements" on the home front, and of postwar affairs.

SHIP NAMES PICKED

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP)—Liberty ships will be named for Wendell L. Willkie, Alfred E. Smith and George W. Norris. Assignment of the names of the three political figures who have died within recent months to ships now under construction was announced today by the Maritime commission.

LULL ENDED;
YANKS SCORE
2-MILE GAINNEW DRIVE BELOW
AACHEN TAKES TWO TOWNS

BY JAMES M. LONG

Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force, Paris, Nov. 2 (AP)—The U. S. First Army shattered the Siegfried line lull today with a new drive on a front of 4,000 yards southeast of Aachen that swept nearly two miles to within eight miles of the big German road center of Duren—20 miles beyond which lies Cologne and the Rhine.

The drive rolled through the German villages of Vesseneck and Germeter, 13 miles southeast of Aachen, and up to the fortified village of Hurtgen, often attacked but not yet conquered by Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' doughboys.

Prisoners Routed Out
The attack, whose scope and objectives have not yet been disclosed, exploded in the face of hastily strengthened German defenses in the morning after a heavy artillery barrage that resounded through Hurtgen forest.

By evening American infantrymen still were slogging forward against stiffening resistance, it was announced at supreme headquarters.

Three hundred prisoners were routed from pillboxes and foxholes as the Americans broke clear out of the eastern fringes of the battle-chewed forest, across the road leading south from Duren to Lammersdorf, and on into a smaller woodland beyond.

Meanwhile British troops cleared Vliessen (Flushing) of all but snipers, seized big gun batteries on the San Dunes to the north, and more reinforcements poured into this flooded Walcheren island for the final mop-up of Antwerp's seaward approaches.

Enemy Defenses Collapse
The British, hammering away at German rearwards—battered against the Maas, drove a mile nearer the two vital bridges across the stream at Moerdijk, widened their hold on the south bank to four miles, and smashed into the enemy citadel of Geertruidenberg.

While the final hour of reckoning neared for the 7,000 to 10,000 Germans holding out on Walcheren island, enemy defenses across the Schelde estuary to the south collapsed.

The Germans' last three strongholds, the Belgian seaside towns of Knocke and Heyst and the Dutch frontier village of Sluis, five miles east, fell in swift succession, and 1,700 more prisoners swelled the Canadian total of captives in the Schelde pocket to 11,700.

Among the captives was Major Gen. Eberding, commander of the now-destroyed 64th division, who admitted the Germans' day was done on the swampy southern banks of the Schelde.

British in eastern Holland, eating up at least half the ground taken by the Germans in an abortive offensive east of the Allied base at Eindhoven, drove more than three miles southeast of Liesel. It was announced the Ger-

In northern France, the German communique asserted, the U. S. Third army was attacking on a broad front between Metz and Nancy and gained ground in fierce fighting.

A field dispatch mentioned only that the Third had driven the last German from the Sella river bend, 13 miles northeast of Nancy, to put an end to further infiltration attacks.

The U. S. Seventh army, pushing units of Hitler's "Peoples' army" before it, hammered out substantial gains and pulled up to within three to eight miles of six fog-shrouded passes which lead through the formidable barrier of the Vosges mountains to the Rhine and Germany.

WORLD AVIATION VIEWS CONFLICT

Canada's Delegate Says U. S. 2-Party Plan Is Unrealistic

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Central control of world air transport economics became the declared issue of the International Civil Aviation conference today, with Canada and the United States presenting opposing views before the delegates from 51 countries.

Canada's leading delegate declared the U. S. plan for making world air routes by two-party agreements among nations was "unrealistic" while the United States' spokesman called the British proposal for an international air authority a "splendid dream."

Statements of policy by the leaders of the delegations from the two North American nations outlined sharply the basic differences in concept of the conference goal, and subsequent speeches indicated lines of support for the opposing views.

Canada clearly is spearheading a British empire plan for an international air authority tantamount to the United States Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) with power to allocate routes and schedules, fix rates and fares, and govern competitive practices for airlines connecting nations.

The United States, apparently with the support of southern neighbors and some nations in Europe, assumed, in its first public pronouncement on the subject, the position that such a plan is visionary and lacks any foundation in international law or experience.

JAPS TRAPPED ON LEYTE, END NOW IN SIGHT

doughboys of the 24th Division closed in from the south and were last reported near the town's perimeter defenses.

Capture of Carigara will rout the last Nipponese concentration in the eastern half of Leyte and give the Yanks control of the enemy's coastal escape route west to Pinamopoan and thence south to Ormoc Bay. It is from Ormoc Bay, on Leyte's western shores, that Japanese reinforcements have been sent to Carigara.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported Thursday that the enemy continue to reinforce the Ormoc area by barge. The enemy troops were being brought in from Cebu Island, some 25 miles west across the Camote Sea. The enemy traffic was subjected to constant attack by Leyte-based fighter planes and darting PT boats.

Elsewhere on Leyte American patrols fanned out extensively. Minor contacts with fleeing enemy groups were reported from the central area. The penetration westward over mountain trails toward Ormoc Bay continued.

The southwestern United States has several near deserts, which could be reclaimed by irrigation.

Marshal Kesselring Wounded In Italy

Bern, Switzerland, Nov. 2. (AP)—Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring, German commander-in-chief in Italy, was reported tonight to have been wounded in Italy during an attack similar to the one that eventually cost Field Marshal Erwin Rommel his life in France.

Kesselring's automobile, according to information from Italy, overturned when it was machine gunned by an Allied plane near Bologna. The extent of his injuries is not yet known here.

COUNCIL ADOPTS CAB ORDINANCE

Gives City Power To Regulate Car For Hire Business

An ordinance prescribing license fees for taxicabs and providing regulations under which they may operate in Escanaba was passed at a regular council meeting Thursday evening in the city hall.

The ordinance, which becomes effective 10 days after its publication, gives the council power to pass on the application for license of any individual, firm or corporation. A fee of $25 a year for the first cab and $5 for each additional vehicle is required, and to qualify for a license the operator must:

Describe the type and condition of the car or cars he intends to operate, give his experience and financial worth, state the location of the central office, submit three references and insurance certificates showing that he had purchased property damage protection to the extent of $10,000 and public liability in the amounts of $10,000 and $20,000.

Taxicab service must be maintained throughout the entire 24 hours of the day, and the central office must be properly manned to accept phone calls at all hours.

Penalties for violation of the ordinance provide for a fine of not more than $25 or 10 days in jail.

Requests for transfer of liquor licenses were approved as follows: Granada Gardens, Inc. to Helene LaPorte, and Leonard Williams to Elmer Howard, the latter as sole owner.

ON MARS PLANE

Marquette — Bradley Posenke, aviation radio-man second class, U. S. Navy, who is spending a 17-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Posenke, 403 East Michigan street, is the only Michigan member of the 22-man crew of the Mars, largest seaplane in the world.

The Mars, which has a wingspread of 200 feet, 25 feet greater than the Army's famous B-19, is still considered an experimental ship and despite the fact that 20 others are in production, little information regarding its activities is available.

Lund And Bailey Speak Tonight For Democrats

Atty. Wendell Lund of Washington D. C., former member of the War Production Board, and Cecil Bailey of Kalkaska, Democratic candidates for 11th district congressman, will be the principal speakers tonight at an 8:30 o'clock Democratic rally in William Cliver auditorium, Escanaba Junior High school.

A former Escanaba resident, Atty. Lund will speak in behalf of President Roosevelt and for the Democratic ticket. He is scheduled to discuss the administration's labor policy and labor program.

Preceding the rally there will be a parade up Ludington street from the Delta hotel to the high school, headed by the Escanaba city band. The parade is scheduled for 8:15 o'clock.

Opening the rally program at the high school, at which Prosecuting Attorney Torval E. Strom will be chairman, a sound moving picture "Lest We Forget" with commentary by Quentin Reynolds, will be presented.

Besides the talks by Lund and Bailey, the Democratic county candidates will be introduced and will speak briefly.

Besides the rally tonight the county Democratic committee announced that Lund and Bailey will speak Saturday at meetings in Escanaba and Gladstone.

Tomorrow noon Atty. Lund will speak at a luncheon meeting of the Democratic Women's Club in St. Joseph's church basement on the subject "Women of Today—Their Duties and Responsibilities." The luncheon meeting is arranged by a committee of the Women's Division of the county Democratic committee headed by Mrs. Irene Gallagher.

Saturday night in Gladstone another meeting will be held at which County Clerk Theodore Ohlen will preside and Atty. Lund, Bailey and the county candidates will appear on the speaking program.

To Explain Changes In Citizenship Law

Examiner R. W. Gearing of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, Sault Ste. Marie, will be in the office of the Delta county clerk at the courthouse in Escanaba Nov. 16 to assist persons who are in doubt as to their citizenship status.

Gearing reported that many persons residing in this area are not aware that recent legislative changes have made it possible for persons who are citizens of the United States, but who were born abroad, to secure citizenship certificates which may be used to definitely establish their citizenship for employment and other purposes.

Those who are interested in obtaining certificates of citizenship should contact Gearing at the county clerk's office here Nov. 16 between 3:30 and 5 p. m., and he will advise them as to the proper procedure.

Just A Dud

A LAST minute effort to bring at least some measure of support to a pitifully weak and a beaten before it starts New Deal-CIO picked list of candidates for state offices in Michigan, has been launched by a group of disgruntled liquor dealers in the state.

A mimeographed letter, bearing no signatures and under the sponsorship of what is called "Committee of Fair Play For Licensees" has been received by all retail liquor dealers in the state. The letter states "We, a committee of licensees, are writing you requesting your support in our campaign to defeat the present governor of Michigan in the approaching campaign. He has been in office for two years and it has been two years of the most inefficient and unfair liquor administration since repeal. Severe and unfair sentences have been assessed against us; we have been found guilty when we were innocent; we have been denied the right of appeal, given us under the law, and our licenses have been revoked or we have been heavily fined.—Further we have not been given an equal share of liquor, in fact we have been denied the right to make a living in our business."

About the best answers to this complaint is offered in a letter received by The Press from a responsible licensee of Delta county who says: "The so-called committee who wrote this letter are, in my opinion, unscrupulous, self contradictory and last but not least, so yellow they do not give either their names or address. In reference to fines, from what I have read in the local newspapers, the sentences dished out to local violators were, certainly, not unduly hard. As for the fairness in conducting trials I have heard from violators, themselves, that they had full opportunity to defend themselves. I have not heard one criticism from licensees regarding the unjust distribution of liquor. In fact the state of Michigan has been stocked with liquor where neighboring states were legitimately cleaned out. Black markets flourish in other states, where it is negligible in ours."

The public can draw its own conclusions.

Inventories Decline

CONSUMPTION of lumber during the past four years has exceeded production, cutting the inventories from 18 billion board feet in 1941 to a critical point this year, with the prospect that the situation will be aggravated by increasing military demands.

Of the total consumption in 1943 of 35.5 billion board feet, 27.2 billion were used in boxing, crating and damage for the benefit of the armed forces, leaving 8.3 billion for civilian use. Supplies on hand in 1944 have continued to shrink, since the demand for shipping lumber is unabated.

Home building will create a heavy demand for lumber after the war, for it is estimated that about 900,000 houses will be constructed annually over a several-year period. According to officials of the Forest Service, the heavy drain on forest resources must be met with increased reforestation efforts and a program to eliminate destructive cutting practices.

The National Lumber Manufacturers association, however, takes a more optimistic view of the situation. It points out that the industry is well aware of its needs and responsibilities, and that more and more it is planning for its future forest crop. The pulp and paper industries of Wisconsin, for instance, are planting trees on their lands and are sponsoring a statewide educational campaign to promote reforestation. In the Pacific Northwest, the Weyerhaeuser company and other large lumbering concerns now have industrial forestry programs well under way.

The bulk of the well-timbered lands in this country is still in the hands of private owners. That these owners realize they must practice sound forestry to sustain their operations gives promise that there will be an adequate supply of wood for its many important uses in the future years.

Wartime Civic Duty

SIMON MICHELET of Washington, D. C., who has devoted many years to a personal crusade to get out the vote on election day, reports that the campaign for a wider suffrage has made progress since it was launched back in 1924.

According to Michelet's figures, the popular vote for all presidential candidates in 1924 was 29,022,261, and the balloting of the polls has steadily increased since then until 49,815,312 votes were recorded in the 1940 election. Whether this figure will be reached this year is problematical, since millions of men and women are now overseas military service and many others have changed their residence since the last election.

The exercise of the right to vote is as much a duty as a privilege in these troublous times. Every patriotic American will go to the polls and vote on next Tuesday. Only by the expression of individual choice, whatever it may be, can the government by truly representative of the people. Our armed forces are fighting for the right to have a government which is truly representative. The least we can do for them at home is to keep alive, by voting, the right our men under the colors are giving their all to preserve.

Trouble in Spain

THERE is an uneasy feeling of "this is where we came in" about the news from Spain these days. The news has been soft-pedaled by censorship and by some leaders of both factions. Nevertheless it appears that long-threatening trouble may flare again into full-scale civil war.

The situation is cloudy, with each side claiming early successes. But at least it seems certain that Spanish Republican troops, which escaped to France after the Civil War and have fought with the Maquis against the Germans, have recrossed the border and clashed with Franco's forces, and that an underground Madrid paper has called on regular Spanish Army officers to take up arms against the Falange.

There are also rumors which, if true, are significant. One is that 40,000 German troops escaped from France into Spain and have been regrouped to fight for Franco. The other is that French Maquis were ordered to withdraw from the border and leave their Spanish comrades to fight alone.

This would be a repetition of history. Germany, of course, was at Franco's side in the conflict of 1936-39. So was Italy, and the two conducted a dress rehearsal of history's greatest and bloodiest war. France maintained a hands-off attitude. The rest of the world, with the exception of Russia, looked on.

How much farther will history repeat itself? Eight years ago the American and British governments took a short-sighted "plague o' both your houses" view. And most citizens of both countries shared this view, despite the handful of volunteers with the Spanish Loyalists. Since then the western Allies have dealt almost deferentially with Madrid, in spite of Franco's open sympathy and aid for the Axis cause.

The threat of a new Spanish civil war raises some important questions. Would this country and Britain continue friendly recognition of the Franco government? Would they recognize a substitute dictator which the powerful conservative group of double-crossed Franco followers might install? Or would they support resurgent forces of the legally elected Spanish republic which Franco and his German and Italian allies defeated?

Military expediency no longer is a valid excuse for condoning fascism in Spain. It remains to be seen now whether the great powers will profit by past lessons and use their strong influence to foster representative government, or whether they will support the status quo of whatever political complexion, just so long as it seems to be top dog.

MUSIC AS THERAPY
(Sault Ste. Marie News)

Music, it now appears, has other functions besides soothing savage beasts and entertaining players and listeners. Under authorization of the Surgeon General of the United States Army, tests are being conducted at Walter Reed Hospital to determine the curative effects of the melo-dious art. Already results, admittedly tentative, indicate definite help is being given psychiatric patients.

Nothing could be more logical than this employment of music. Aside from its professional and technical aspects, the field of tone is the field of emotion, the effect on the listener being its chief aim and raison d'etre. Its power has been universally felt, from the aboriginal beating of battle drums in the jungle to the lullabies that mothers have always crooned to their children.

Music stimulates the most elemental moods known to man, the most romantic, the most patriotic, the most rarified and etherealized. It is not improbable that these tests, which are being carried out under rigid controls, will find the sort of music that will best disentangle the tangled nerves of veteran and civilian alike.

The Walter Reed experiments, their sponsors emphasize, utilize music as a subsidiary treatment to bolster established techniques. At the very least, a valuable result should be evidence as to its scientific usefulness. Coming hand in hand with this new development in the treatment of neuroses is the finding of a special commission in New York which virtually proves the worth of insulin shock in handling dementia praecox cases. Of more than 1,000 cases observed, 79.5 per cent were able to leave the hospital, as compared to 58.8 per cent of not treated cases.

Of the former group 55 per cent were restored to useful life in the community as compared to only 40.5 per cent of the latter group.

These developments are milestones along the road to a better knowledge of mental disequilibrium. They show how far medical science has progressed from old-fashioned theories of therapy.

Take My Word For it . . . Frank Coiby

HOW DID IT START?

Q. I think all your readers would be interested in the origin of the term HOBBY, an absorbing pastime.

A. The original Middle English word was hoby, "an ambling horse." Later, the term hobby-horse came to designate any toy like a horse, such as the horses of a

The Round Table

BY RAYMOND MOLEY

The prevalent betting odds favoring Mr. Roosevelt raise a pertinent question. What do the professional gamblers know that professional political observers and writers do not know? For no professional journalist who has labored for months to cover this campaign sees any such odds as the gamblers see.

In my own case, I have traveled thousands of miles over the past year, talking with hundreds of people in states running without a break from Connecticut to California. I have read everything I could find, have consulted with many of the experts, analyzed all the available polls. And I can't see this election except as a very close one, with as many signs favorable to Dewey as to Roosevelt. This is the testimony of every other respectable commentator I know.

—CANNOT PICK WINNER—

Surely, the gamblers cannot have put forth that sort of effort. They have had other fish to fry which political writers do not have to consider. The betting people have had to cover horse races, prize fights and other non-political contests. Political writers have talked, written, eaten and slept politics.

Maybe there are hidden hunches or supernatural signs hidden from me. I have heard of such things. But out of the weariness that comes from the efforts of all these months, I can summon only one answer. I don't know who is going to win this election and I don't know anyone who does know.

This last week will be important. The last speeches of Mr. Dewey, if he lives up to form, will be the best of his campaign. The serious attacks on Mr. Truman will be a factor. Various minorities are meeting to challenge issues. Mr. Hillman and Mr. Browder are losing votes for the President, although Mr. Hillman may have registered many potential votes for him. How war weary are the people? Do they take seriously Mr. Roosevelt's denial of an intention to prolong the absence of the soldiers beyond the war? All these are potent psychological forces whose effect cannot yet be measured.

—DEWEY NEEDS NEW YORK—

Betting, of course, embodies psychological and economic factors that have little to do with the actual chances in the election. A favorite device among people who bet is to stick to the champion until he is defeated. In prize fighting a champion will ordinarily win several fights between the time he wins the championship and the time he finally loses it. Bettors claim, by a mathematical hocus-pocus, that they win more on the several shots when they give odds than they lose the one time they lose. On the economic side, betting depends on supply and demand, just as prices are determined in a free market. If there is more Roosevelt money, the odds grow on Roosevelt.

Apparently, the fact that Dewey must carry all of a long list of states to win a majority, while Roosevelt needs only a few of these to win, strongly influences the odds. Roosevelt could win without New York; Dewey hardly could.

But beyond all these factors, there is mystery in the current odds. Perhaps if some of us knew as much about betting as we know about politics, we could explain how the odds might be manipulated to produce the very important propaganda value the present odds provide. Something is wrong in the situation, however, because as I said at the beginning of this piece, there is nothing in presently-known political facts to justify large odds either way. There simply cannot be, because those who know their politics see this as a very doubtful election.

merry-go-round, the dummy horses used by circus clowns, and especially the riding stick with a horse's head, beloved of all small boys of pre-automobile days.

From the childish zeal for the sport of riding hobbyhorses, the word hobbyhorse took on the extended meaning of "any absorbing pastime or interest." In time the term was shortened to "hobby."

Sir William Osler (1849-1919), Canadian physician, once declared: "No man is really happy or safe without a hobby, and it makes precious little difference what the outside interest may be—botany, beetles, or butterflies—anything will do so long as he straddles a hobby and rides it hard."

Colby, You're Wrong!

Silver Spring: You recently listed as correct, "Tell me whether you intend to go or stay." This error is common among those whose thinking is not clear. You have slipped up on this more than once. The preposition of the second phrase is missing. The correct form is: "... to go or to stay."—P. R. B.

Answer: See WETHER, paragraph 2, page 2911, Webster's New International Dictionary; "... uncertain whether to go or stay."

Hamlet, Act I, sc. 1, line 153: Whether in sea or fire, in earth or air...

There is no "shirt" in 's Hertogenbosch. The queer spelling of 's Hertogenbosch, important city of southern Holland, has aroused the nation's curiosity, and resulted in a number of confused pronunciations.

The curious 's before the name is not linked to the "H" to form "sh" as in "shirt." The ancient spelling of the name was: Des Hertogenbosch, (the duke's forest). In colloquial Dutch speech, the "Des" all but disappeared, only the sound of "s" remaining. In time the spelling was changed to 's Hertogenbosch to conform with the customary pronunciation.

To pronounce 's Hertogenbosch correctly, disregard the "H" and make the first syllable "sair" to rhyme with "pair." The "g" is fricative as in the German "ach."

Caution. The -bosch does not have the "sh" sound—it rhymes with "moss, loss." Say: SAIR-toe-(ch)un-BAWSS.

PROPOSAL NO. 4—Those who oppose Proposal No. 4, which would permit Wayne county to adopt a home rule charter, are loud in their charges that "special interests" are sponsoring its adoption. Because of the importance of home rule for Wayne county, and for every county in Michigan, The Bugler herewith presents information on county government contained in a volume titled "A Manual of County Administration" by Claude R. Tharp and published by University of Michigan Press.

"In this study, as in other publications of the Bureau of Government (of the University of Michigan), the greatest care is taken to state all of the pertinent facts with fullness and accuracy and to draw conclusions with scientific impartiality and fairness," writes Tharp in the preface of the volume.

SINCE 1787—County and township organizations were first authorized by the Northwest Ordinance of 1787, which governed the vast territory including the present state of Michigan. The administration of Governor Cass from 1813 to 1831 was important in the early history of county administrative organization. Born and reared in New England, where local autonomy in township and county government had been established, it was largely through his influence that this policy was introduced into Michigan.

At first the governor filled all offices by appointment.

But in 1825 Congress authorized the organization of township and required that all offices of both townships and counties be elected locally, except the judge and clerk of any court of record, the sheriff, the judge of probate, and justice of the peace.

In 1903 the present constitution was adopted.

THE COUNTY BOARDS

Township representation on the county boards of supervisors was an adaptation of the New York township-supervisor system, the origin of which can be traced back to the year 1691.

The provision establishing a township-city representative system was first incorporated into the constitution of 1850 and was continued in its original form into the present constitution adopted in 1908.

UNCHANGED—It may be seen from the above historical summary that the principles of direct election of important county and township officers, the use of the township as a political unit, and the basis of rural representation on the county board were developed during the territorial period and incorporated into the constitution early in the history of the state. For over a century these principles have prevailed, and a nd meanwhile, the administrative organization of township and county governments has remained substantially unchanged.

TO BE REDUCED—The number of supervisors elected to the county board depends upon the number of townships and cities in the county. In 1942 Wayne county had 162 members on its county board. An act of the 1943 legislature requires this number to be reduced to 84 by 1944.

ONLY FOUR STATES

The township-supervisor system is found only in four of the 48 states of the United States of America: Michigan, Illinois, New York and Wisconsin.

In Illinois and Wisconsin, however, an alternative plan of electing a small commission is permitted. Seventeen counties in south-

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago—1934

Asking the support of the city council in their demand for more hours of relief labor and higher pay, a petition signed by 110 unemployed was presented Thursday night by spokesmen for the group but was withdrawn when members of the council pointed out they had no jurisdiction in fixing the hours and wages allowed for relief workers.

The annual harvest of Christmas trees for city markets is underway in the woods of the Upper Peninsula and first truckloads of the trees already are enroute.

20 Years Ago—1924

By negotiations completed yesterday James R. Andrews, one of the leading lumbermen of this district, has leased the sawmill of the Steele Wallace corporation on Steensons avenue, and will place it in operation with both day and night crews on Jan. 1. Remodeling and improving the mill will begin at once, which will allow production of 45,000 feet of lumber a day.

25 Years Ago—1919

T. M. Judson was the first Escanaba citizen to make a donation of any considerable size to the American Jewish relief association, having mailed his check for $500 to Chairman Herman Gessner yesterday. Mr. Judson accompanied his check with a letter strongly endorsing the movement, tendering his services for the period of the drive and paying a fine compliment to Mr. Gessner and the Jewish residents of Escanaba.

ern Illinois do not have a township organization, and a small board of commissioners has been elected.

COMMISSION TYPE—A large group of states lying in a triangular area reaching from New Jersey to Oklahoma and the Dakotas have established the commissioner type of county board. The typical county board in this region is a small commission of three, five, or seven members.

In the Mountain and Pacific states of the West, the board is small, usually consisting of five members.

COUNTY MANAGER—In a few states the legislature is allowed greater latitude in determining county governmental structure. Optional laws have been passed in California, North Carolina, New York, Ohio and Virginia, which permit adoption of a county manager form of government. This plan calls for the election of a relatively small board of county commissioners, who in turn appoint a county manager. The prosecuting attorney and sheriff are elected at large.

ONLY SEVEN—As of January 1, 1943, only seven counties had adopted the county manager form of government.

COUNTY HOME RULE—In a few states, counties have been authorized to adopt home rule charters similar to those in effect in many cities and villages in Michigan and other states. California, Texas and Ohio permit county home rule. Maryland has authorized home rule for the county of Baltimore, and the state of New York has provided for a limited type of county home rule.

ARGUMENT—The above, taken from Tharp's "A Manual of County Administrative Organization in Michigan," should disprove the claim that Michigan and Michigan alone is faced with "dire threat to representative government" if county home rule is permitted for Wayne county. Rather, we see that wherever there is the need for change in county government and there is sufficient demand for reform, the change came despite opposition of entrenched political interest.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

(Lt. Col. Robert S. Allen now on active service with the Army)

Washington—Real inside on the recall of General "Vinegar Joe" Stilwell is long involved and goes to the root of the complicated Chinese political situation.

Briefly put, it boils down to the fact that General Stilwell served an ultimatum on Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek to co-operate with other Chinese armies in waging war against Japan, and you can't serve ultimatums on the head of another government.

U. S. Ambassador Clarence Gauss also called on the Generalissimo regarding the same question of co-operation, but being a diplomat he merely "suggested." He served no ultimatum.

Actually, the controversy revolves around a question discussed by this writer last summer, in a column vigorously criticized by the Chinese, reporting that most of the real fighting against the Japs had been done by the Northern Chinese so-called Communist Army. Chiang Kai-shek's war lords, on the other hand, have fought the so-called Communists, thus indirectly aiding the Japs.

Vice President Wallace, incidentally, had an indirect hand in the Stilwell controversy and, strangely enough, he and acid-tongued "Vinegar Joe" found themselves in basic agreement.

—HERE'S WHAT HAPPENED—

Here is the rather complicated story of what happened:

Two years ago, a party of Americans, fleeing from the Japs after Pearl Harbor, travelled through northern China with the assistance of Chinese Communist guerrillas, got a detailed picture of guerrilla effectiveness, later made a report to Roosevelt, who was impressed with their findings.

Later, when Madame Chiang Kai-shek came here on her first visit, FDR questioned her at length regarding the guerrilla army. She dismissed the whole idea as Communist propaganda, claimed no such army really existed.

But Roosevelt, not satisfied, called in Marine Corps Colonel Evans Carlson, hero of Makin Island, who had spent several years with the Chinese Communists. Carlson confirmed that they were the most effective army in China.

Finally, last spring, Roosevelt sent Wallace to China, specifically instructed him to arrange for a U. S. military mission to visit the Communist Army. This was no easy. First, Wallace got Chiang's permission to visit the Communists. Later, he had to get permission from the Communist guerrillas to receive an American military mission. This was really difficult. At first, the Communists were skeptical but after considerable Vice Presidential persuasion, they agreed.

—COMMUNISTS GOOD FIGHTERS—

That mission last summer reported directly to the White House, confirming previous ideas that (1) the Chinese Communists have about 500,000 loyal troops though poorly equipped; (2) they have another 2,000,000 potential fighters now doing guerrilla work behind Jap lines; (3) they have superior intelligence regarding Jap operation; (4) their commander, Tse-tung, has a brilliant record of resisting the Japs to the last ditch.

Result of all this was that the United States faced the alternative of working directly with the Communists, which would affect Chiang Kai-shek, or of trying to get Chiang Kai-shek to work with them so the United States could then work with both.

This was what U. S. Ambassador Gauss and General Stilwell were trying to do—to get the Generalissimo to work with the Communists. The Ambassador tried diplomacy. The General served an ultimatum. Unfortunately, Chiang and Stilwell had rubbed each other the wrong way for a long while. Stilwell's blunt, brusque manners also had caused friction with General Claire Chennault, Lord Mountbatten and Chiang.

—AMERICAN-CHINESE IMPASSE

Chennault battled with Stilwell over greater use of the air, called Stilwell an old-fashioned trench fighter. Stilwell battled Mountbatten over British slowness in Burma.

Trouble with those two is not so serious. However, when you tell the head of an important Allied government flatly that he has to do a thing and he won't do it, then you put yourself in an impossible position—especially in the Orient, where "face" is all-important.

All this came to a showdown when Donald Nelson and General Patrick J. Hurley arrived back from China and reported to Roosevelt that an unbreakable American-Chinese deadlock existed in Chungking.

—JAP FLEET DAMAGED BUT NOT DESTROYED—

Top military observers, viewing the Philippine naval victory in retrospect, now emphasize that the Japanese Navy has not been destroyed. However, enough key battle wagons and aircraft carriers have been sunk or severely damaged to render the rest of the Jap forces relatively ineffective for at least the next six months.

Japanese shipyards attempting to turn out enough vessels to keep Japan's long supply lines going will have to devote themselves almost entirely to repairing the damage caused in last week's historic naval engagement. In addition, the already over-pressed Jap steel industry, with a production of only 9,000,000 tons a year, will be thrown out of gear.

Thus the U. S. Navy has much less to fear in the Philippine waters.

You usually lose by a nose when you stick it into other people's business.

A spray used in some orchards keeps apples from falling. We wonder if it also has been used in the price.

HOME SERVICE CORPS FORMED

Qualified Volunteers To Assist In Red Cross Aid To Veterans

Sixteen Delta county women, 13 of them from the city of Escanaba, have completed an intensive two weeks instruction course, and now are qualified members of the Home Service Corps of the American Red Cross.

Working on a volunteer basis a minimum of 150 hours a year, members of the corps will operate out of the local home service department headed by Chairman G. Z. Flanders, and will assist in carrying out the continually increasing demands upon the functions of that department.

Members of the corps will report at the home service office for assignment when they have time available for the work, and are pledged to contribute not less than 150 hours per year. Although each member of the corps has passed the course of instruction offered during the last two weeks by Miss Edna Swingle, home service field representative from the St. Louis headquarters, they will not receive certificates until all have given at least 18 hours of service.

Those who attended the school of instruction at the Franklin school, and who now are full fledged Corps members include: Mrs. H. J. Defnet, Corps chairman; Mrs. Barnett Mills, Mrs. K. F. Harrington, Mrs. H. H. Shepeck, Mrs. A. M. Jensen, Mrs. A. C. Anderson, Mrs. D. H. Boyce, Mrs. Mike Farrell, Mrs. G. C. Bartley, Mrs. P. A. Wohlen, Mrs. W. J. Henderson, Mrs. H. J. Hukenpahler, and Miss Delight Mashek, all of Escanaba; Mrs. Louis Empson, Mrs. O. H. Hull of Gladstone and Mrs. Alfred Dahl, Cornell.

Will Assist Service Men

The responsibility of the home service department is to assist servicemen and former servicemen and their families in meeting the needs which arise from a man's service in the armed forces. Members of the Corps will assist with communications between servicemen and their families when common means of communication are not possible. They also will supply information concerning government regulations and legislation affecting service and ex-service men and their families. Assistance will be provided, when necessary in applying for family allowances, and in presenting claims for pensions and other government benefits.

When requested by military or naval authorities social histories of hospitalized servicemen will be obtained, together with reports on home conditions needed by commanding officers in deciding questions of discharge, furlough or clemency.

Temporary financial assistance

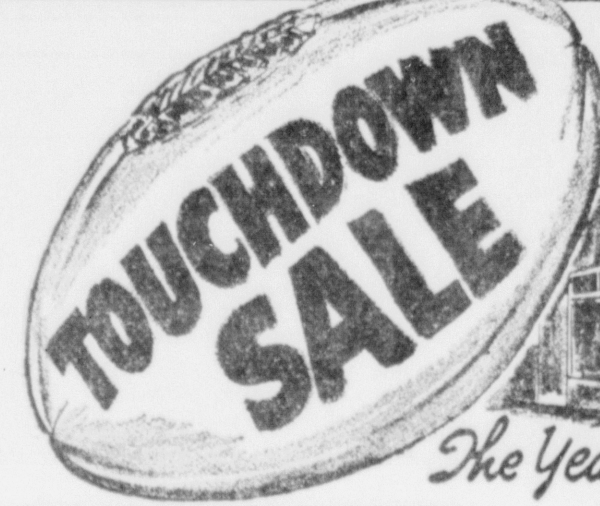

also is included among the Corps functions, and is provided on the basis of need during the temporary period when the application or claim for government benefits is pending.

Last-Minute Rush Now Being Made For Votes

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

New York—This is the feverish, last-minute rush when the headquarters of both major parties have the look of a department store bargain basement in the middle of a one-cent sale.

A kind of frenzy overtakes even such normally calm, calculating people as man the Dewey headquarters. Telephone lines are jammed with appeals from all over the country. The final personal appearance will turn the trick, or so runs the argument.

Governor Dewey, on the advice of his campaign manager, Herbert Brownell, Jr., has selected two last-minute spots. He will make a final effort in both Maryland and Pennsylvania to swing those uncertain states into the Republican column. And it's especially significant that in Pennsylvania he's going into the coal mining towns of Wilkesbarre and Scranton where, supposedly, John L. Lewis, bitter foe of President Roosevelt, has prepared the way for Dewey.

Needs N. Y. Pennsylvania
Dewey needs both New York and Pennsylvania to win, in view of the fact that Roosevelt will garner from the far west and the deep south approximately 170 electoral votes, which is a long running start to the 266 necessary to win. The Republican candidate must also take most of the border states, of which Maryland is one, in order to overcome FDR's head-start.

For whatever it means, the Republican exude far less confidence at their headquarters than the Democrats. They still talk of the trend which is working with sufficient force to change over enough wavering states to swing the balance. They say that if you flipped a coin today it would stand on edge, so close is the outcome likely to be.

While this may be largely professional caution, there is a certain sagging of the spirit at Republican headquarters. They're inclined to speak bitterly of the fourth term candidate. They say that he's had an expert makeup artist come on from Hollywood to work on him before he goes before the cameras; that Hollywood has also supplied lighting experts who soften the glare and arrange the baby spots when the presidential physiognomy is exposed to the cameras.

By contrast, the Democrats radiate an easy confidence. They believe they could shut up shop for the rest of the campaign and still win. Of course, they won't shut up shop. They're working around the clock to perfect the last-minute punches, in which the professionals place so much reliance.

While this may be overconfidence, the president has vetoed Cleveland, where he had considered making a last-minute appearance, and has definitely said no on Detroit.

G. O. P. Is Confident
In one respect, the claims of both headquarters are alike. You're told at the Roosevelt hotel, where the Dewey people have two floors, that New York state is safely in the GOP column. At the Biltmore, a block away, the Democrats say they can't lose the big bag of 47 electoral votes that go with the most populous state in the union.

The Republicans are putting their hope in a majority of at least 750,000 from upstate, which they believe will swamp anything the Democratic organization can deliver. Democratic leaders long familiar with the state are inclined to agree that such a majority would do it, but the catch is, they insist, that Dewey will not come down to the city with anything like that big a lead. The industrial areas centered in Buffalo and Rochester will go so heavily Democratic that Dewey's majority is not likely to be greater than Willie's half million of four years ago.

Not a little may depend on the disaffection of Irish and Italian Catholics in Brooklyn and Manhattan. Some churchmen in the city have openly urged the election of Dewey.

The Republican candidate winds up here Saturday night with a traditional garden rally. That will, to all intents and purposes, be the end of what has become a bitterly contested campaign.

Civilian Support Needed For Morale

Chicago (AP)—Dr. Edward A. Strecker, a psychiatrist of Philadelphia, said tonight that what soldiers need most for morale is unwavering support from the home and confidence in their leaders.

Dr. Strecker, professor of psychiatry at the University of Pennsylvania, president of the American Psychiatric Association, and a consultant to the surgeons general of both the army and navy, said in a prepared speech before the Institute of Medicine of Chicago: "An army may march to its objective on its belly, but it takes its objective by its morale."

AAF Tells About D-Day Experience For Sgt. Goodman

T. Sgt. John A. Goodman, 306 South 15th street, Escanaba, is coming home for a rest after completing his required number of bomber missions in Europe. Sgt. Goodman flew his 54th combat mission on D-Day in the invasion of southern France.

For more than a week preceding the Allied invasion of southern France, Sgt. Goodman's Marauder group had softened up coastal defenses by blasting bridges, communications and gun positions.

An hour before the American troops moved ashore on D-Day, the Marauder group neutralized the beach defenses along a long sector of the coast. In the afternoon they were assigned to knock out the southernmost road bridges across the Rhone river and to snarl the German supply line coming east to meet the invasion.

An account of that afternoon raid follows:

"Over the sea the Marauder group was flying in tight formation. The gunners went back to test their guns. Sgt. Steeves knelt down in the tail, Sgt. Kirkland opened up the waist windows and stuck his guns outside while Sgt. Goodman climbed into the turret. As they neared the French coast, they fitted their Mae Wests, parachutes and flak vests and kept an eye out for enemy planes, but none were around that day.

"The only flak I saw," reported Sgt. Goodman, "came from one of our flak boats and there wasn't an enemy plane in the sky. It would have been suicide for them.

"The Rhone valley came into sight and the men were even more observant. As they came across the road bridge, the only one across the river 700 miles around, Kwiatowski toggled his bombs and below there was only a cloud of smoke and explosions but no longer a bridge.

The pilot made a sharp break-away and as they headed home he dodged between enemy airfields. East of Toulon, a smoke cloud miles long, hid the whole beachhead operations and most of the naval crew off shore.

"The crew relaxed as they neared home. Sgt. Steeves even curled up for a short nap. Sgts. Goodman and Kwiatowski opened up a box of K rations and they found a good dance band on the radio.

"Over home base Lt. Bowles shot a green flare to let the men below know the mission was successful.

Tests Show Equipment Meets Claims Of Makers

Gladstone's new fire truck and pumper has been delivered. It replaces a truck which was purchased by the city in 1922. The truck was built at Detroit on a Ford chassis and is equipped with pumper and booster tank, modern aluminum ladder and other late equipment. Tests were run on the truck Wednesday and Thursday and the pumper proved able to deliver all that was claimed in the purchase agreement. At the boat harbor two lines were connected to the pumper and led through the booster tank and 240 pounds pressure streams of water were sent 150 feet into the air through a one and one-half inch nozzle. At the clear well at the pump house water was lifted 15 feet and the same stream of water pressure provided. The pumper is operated by the same motor as provides motive power for the truck.

COUNTY LAGGING IN CHEST DRIVE

Plea Now Being Made For Increased Donations

"Schoolcraft county is letting the boys down," that is the grim picture presented by G. J. Nicholson, chairman of the Schoolcraft county War Chest drive who presents figures to show that the local area is far behind its quota in the effort. With the quota set at $9,542, collections to date are $4,944.75, which means that Schoolcraft county has, to date, reneged its obligations to the extent of $4,597.25.

The picture is not all bad, however, Mr. Nicholson reports. The Michigan Dimension company is leading the industrial field with a total in collections of $649.20, with a percentage of participation of 93 per cent. Employees of this plant have given an equivalent of nine hours pay.

A house to house canvass is being made this week to afford everyone an opportunity to contribute. Householders are asked to be ready with their donations when the collector calls.

It is the wish of the local campaign committee that the quota be raised and the campaign completed by November 15.

"Let's not fail in this worthy cause," says Mr. Nicholson.

Phyllis Sauheitt
Bride of G. McRae

Miss Phyllis Sauheitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Sauheitt of 226 North Second street, became the bride of George McRae, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McRae, of Detroit, at a ceremony which took place Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the First Baptist church.

The vows were exchanged before Rev. William A. Harrington. The couple was attended by Miss Kathryn Richey, close friend of the bride, and Donald Kilwin, brother-in-law of the groom.

The bride wore a becoming fuchsia suit with black accessories and a corsage of white pom poms and white sweetpeas. Her bridesmaid wore a gray suit with fuchsia accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. Sauheitt, mother of the bride, wore a green dress with green accessories, and Mrs. McRae wore a blue dress with blue accessories.

A wedding supper for twenty-five guests was served at the home of the bride's parents. A tiered wedding cake centered the decorations which were in green and white.

Mr. and Mrs. McRae left later for Detroit. They will make their home in Weiser, Idaho.

A tasty lunch was served at the hostesses were Mrs. Isaac Pawley, Mrs. Richard Thomas, Mrs. Henry Duquette, and Mrs. George Sangraw.

Ladies' Aid

The Zion Lutheran Ladies' Aid held their regular meeting Wednesday afternoon in the church parlors.

The regular business session was held and plans were discussed to have the hunters' food sale November 11. Donations will be brought to the Johnson furniture store.

Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by the following hostesses: Mrs. Nellie Larson, Mrs. Mary Nelson, and Mrs. Julia Gunnarson.

Guests at this meeting included Mrs. Ed Nylander, Mrs. Ida Peterson, Evelyn Gunnarson, Mrs. Hilda Olson, Mrs. Clyde Wygal, and Helen Wygal.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Adolph Vickstrom, Chicago, and Mrs. Joseph Carlson of Detroit.

News From Men In The Service

Mr. and Mrs. John Larson, Garden avenue, have received word that their son, Aviation Machinist Mate 1/C, Charles Larson, is attached to a torpedo bombing squadron aboard an aircraft carrier of the Pacific fleet.

Word has been received here by Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Ott, Lake street, that their daughter, Lt. Lois Neu, has arrived in France.

Cpl. Norman Patz, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Patz, North Second street, who is stationed in Persia, has received a month's furlough which will spend in Palestine, the Holy Land. He was one of the few who was able to go there.

MANISTIQUE

Presented Graphic Picture Of Local Post War Needs

Manistique's postwar prospects were visualized in a graphic way at a public forum sponsored by the Good Government league held at the court house Wednesday evening.

The picture presented was, for the most part an optimistic one, although one or two disquieting notes were injected to acquaint those present with the seriousness of the situation that lies ahead.

The situation in brief, as summed up by Russell Watson, who presided at the meeting, was that Manistique was fortunate in having industries in the city which will not be affected adversely by the termination of the war and that should the local employment situation call for work projects, needed improvements in the city water, street and sewer departments presented possibilities to take care of the emergency.

Tells Of Survey

A. J. Cayia, representing the City Planning commission, the first speaker on the program, told of a survey conducted by that organization to ascertain the part the returning veteran will play in the local area, postwar needs of local residents and their purchasing power.

The commission adopted what is known as the Albert Lea plan in promoting the survey, the system employed being a series of questionnaires.

Questionnaires were sent to local men in the service asking them if they intended to return to Schoolcraft county and if so, if they intended to resume their former employment. Replies numbering 671 indicated that that number would return here after the war and 390 said they intended to return to their old jobs. Since many were not employed when they entered the service, Mr. Cayia stated that this was a high percentage.

The local survey of postwar needs met with poor response. Mr. Cayia stated, as few answers were received from the hundreds of questionnaires sent out.

Questionnaires sent small business firms, he said, brought favorable returns indicating an increase in their activities.

A complete report of the findings of the planning board's survey will be presented at Monday evening's meeting of the city council, Mr. Cayia stated.

Explains Improvement Needs
Mayor Walter Burns, called upon to present the part the city is in position to play in postwar planning, called, in turn, upon Alfred W. Heitman, city supervisor, who explained that through funds allocated by the state government, matched with local appropriations of a like amount, surveys are to be conducted to ascertain improvement needs. Through this survey, the city hoped to ascertain whether the city should continue to get its water supply from Indian River or from a system of wells; whether the present sewage system is adequate for the needs of the city or whether a disposal plant should be constructed; and what should be done in the matter of paving some of the streets, repaving others, building or replacing curbs and constructing new sidewalks.

Warns Of Bond Issues

C. D. Manson, city manager, amplified Mr. Heitman's remarks and then warned that these contemplated improvements were strictly up to the city of Manistique as they could only be brought about through a city vote on bonds, the only exception being in matters pertaining to street and sidewalk improvement where the matter would be subject to the wishes of property owners in the areas affected.

Questioned as to whether the state or federal governments could be relied on for help in financing any local public improvements, Mr. Manson replied that at this moment no such help was in prospect.

New Large Industry Coming To Manistique

Prospects for another industry of extensive proportions for Manistique appeared in the offing Thursday afternoon with word that terms and conditions for leasing of the state highway garage here for industrial purposes have been accepted by J. F. Kluit, Detroit.

Fred Hahne, vice president of the First National Bank of Manistique, who has been negotiating with Mr. Kluit in behalf of the city, stated that in a telephone conversation the Detroit manufacturer agreed to take a two year lease on the property with an option of purchase at $14,250.

The new concern, according to Mr. Kluit, will be a business entirely separate from the Kluit Engineering and Export company of Detroit, of which he is president. The local enterprise will engage in the manufacture of metalware, the exact nature of which is not as yet announced.

The building, located on River street, was built in 1918 to serve as a state highway garage, and has been in use for that purpose up to recently. It has a floor space of 14,337 square feet. It is expected that remodeling to adapt the building to its new purpose will begin as soon as negotiations are completed. This, it is expected, will be accomplished in the course of the next few days.

In the course of negotiations, Mr. Kluit stated that employment preference will be given at the plant to returning veterans and all local skilled and semi-skilled labor before importing workers from sources outside the area.

Former Manistique Residents Marries

Of interest here is the wedding of Dawn Aldrich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Aldrich, Harbor Springs, formerly of Manistique, to Cpl. Gerald C. Pangborn of Levering.

The wedding took place recently at the Amarilla air base chapel, Amarilla, Texas. Chaplain Joseph C. Long solemnized the rites of the double ring ceremony. Alta Aldrich, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Sgt. William Tomlin of the air base attended the groom.

The bride wore a blue crepe dress with black accessories. She carried a Bible and a bouquet of roses and cernitheniums. The maid of honor wore a gold crepe dress and a corsage of roses.

The couple plan to make their home at Amarilla while he is stationed there.

New Fishing Rods First Signs Of Normalcy Return

Washington, Nov. 2 (P) — A new fishing rod may be one of the first signposts pointing the way back to recreational normalcy from wartime conditions.

The War Production Board has authorized increased production of rods, reels and other fishing tackle, and the government's fish and wildlife service sees this as a definite break for America's sports-loving millions.

By spring, manufacturers will have a substantial amount of new equipment on the market for 12-000,000 pleasure fishermen, many of whom have been getting along with prewar leftovers.

Even the Army and Navy agree that there is nothing quite as good for the nerves as a day in a boat or on the bank trying to tempt bass or trout, cat or crappie to hook on.

The services have stocked waters near government hospitals. They encourage convalescing war veterans to go fishing as often as possible.

If you fear that fishing will not be as good as in the old days, just put that feeling aside.

True, stocking, generally, and other man-made ways of keeping streams replenished have been curtailed, due to wartime manpower shortages, but mother nature has her own way of taking care of a situation like that since fishermen haven't been getting out as frequently as they once did.

You have the word of the fish and wildlife experts that "fishing will be better than it was before the war."

PASSER AWAITS DRAFT

East Lansing, Nov. 2 (P) — Bob Bruegger, Michigan State's best forward passer and holder of three touchdowns, has been assured by his draft board he will not be called for induction into the Army until after the Spartans play their final football game here Nov. 11 with University of Maryland.

The Army and Navy Journal has brought forth a suggestion that the major league baseball teams train in Hawaii this winter to provide entertainment for the thousands of servicemen stationed there and many thousands of others who stop off here either going to or coming from the Pacific war fronts. The Army-Navy publication also is urging that American circuses be sent to Hawaii this winter for the same purposes. Weather conditions in Hawaii are ideal, the soldiers and sailors are there by the thousands and the transportation problem is not insurmountable so why not, asks the servicemen's editorial.

The problem of transporting the baseball teams to Hawaii involves the movement of approximately 600 players, all of whom could easily be transported on a single ship. The task of moving the circus to Hawaii, however, is something else again, involving as it does not only large numbers of men and women but considerably more bulk in such animals as elephants, lions, tigers, etc. The service journal points out that baseball and circuses are American institutions that servicemen overseas sorely miss. Presumably if anything develops from the editorial, the initiative would have to come from the government.

Branch Rickey plans to lead a fight against unlimited night baseball at the December meeting of the major leagues but concedes that teams desiring unlimited night schedules probably will win out again. Rickey contends that unlimited night baseball in the major leagues has failed and points to the attendance at Chicago as proof of his argument. The Cubs' attendance far exceeded that of the White Sox in the same city, although the Sox played an unusually large number of night games. Unlimited night games in Washington and St. Louis also failed to reach attendance expectations, Rickey contends.

So the Miami Bowl goes in for flashy, fling-the-ball-around, high-scoring football. The past three games have produced 23 touchdowns, 157 points. Every one of the competing teams had been beaten in regular season competition, most of them more than once.

Baldwin and his committeemen can't see all of the college elevens in action for a first-hand impression of their Orange Bowl potentialities, and they don't have to. Let some obscure eleven burst into prominence with a scoring spree of a major upset victory, and it's a good bet that at least one of the Bowl's volunteer scouts is ready to come through with a full report.

"We're mighty lucky," Baldwin continued, "to have so many good friends around the country who are pulling for us and are ready to give us the right dope. I don't know what we would do without them."

Flashy Grid Team Sought For Annual Orange Bowl Game

Miami, Fla., Nov. 2 (P) — Don't look now, college football teams, but an Orange Bowl scout probably is watching you play. Maybe you recognize him—but not as a sort of unofficial representative of the committee which stages the annual New Year's day gridiron show in Miami.

He may be the coach of the opposing team, a spectator, a sports writer, an athletic commissioner.

No matter his identity, he is a qualified observer to whom Chairman Charles F. (Jack) Baldwin and the members of the schedule committee can go for a frank, off-the-record appraisal of your play.

Since only about 25,000 persons can squeeze into Miami's stadium, the Orange Bowl doesn't have the gate receipts to match the bids of the Rose and Sugar Bowls—for the few unbeaten teams which are eligible.

So the Miami Bowl goes in for flashy, fling-the-ball-around, high-scoring football. The past three games have produced 23 touchdowns, 157 points. Every one of the competing teams had been beaten in regular season competition, most of them more than once.

BRAVES AT TOP OF GRID HEAP

Gladstone Faces Sternest Test Against Eskymos

The Gladstone Braves will make their final bid for at least a piece of the Upper Peninsula football championship Saturday in the annual battle with the Eskymos at the Marble athletic field.

The Braves remain tied with Kingsford and Hancock for the leadership in the Upper Peninsula race. All three teams face keen local rivals in the season's final week. Kingsford meets Iron Mountain while Hancock faces Houghton.

At least one other game scheduled this weekend may have a major bearing on the championship race. It is the Ironwood-Menominee clash at Menominee. Both teams are undefeated in Upper Peninsula competition but each has been tied once.

Of the leading teams, Hancock faces the easiest competition in the closing weekend of the season. Houghton was pushed around by Hancock earlier in the season and Hancock is favored to repeat its victory Saturday.

Both the Gladstone Braves and the Eskymos held a brisk workout yesterday in preparation for the big battle of the season Saturday at Gladstone. Tonight the teams will hold light workouts, their last of the year.

The standings of the Upper Peninsula teams against U. P. competition follow:

Table with 2 columns: Team and Record. Includes Gladstone 6-0-0, Kingsford 6-0-0, Hancock 6-0-0, Menominee 3-0-1, Ironwood 3-0-1, Iron Mountain 5-0-2, L'Anse 4-2-0, Sault Ste. THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Quite a stack of newspapers I left you yesterday, Judge. Aren't you in the newspaper business, are you?"

"No, I just enjoy reading different papers so my nephew George sends them to me whenever he takes a business trip. I got a big kick out of some he sent me from several counties where they still have prohibition. Particularly from some headlines that read 'Drunk Driving Arrests Rise'.

"Bootleggers must post Ceiling Prices", "Federal Agents seize 'Trick' Liquor Truck". Doesn't that go to prove, Judge, that prohibition does not prohibit?"

"I watched conditions pretty carefully during our 13 years of prohibition in this country. The only thing I could see we got out of it was bootleg liquor instead of legal liquor...plus the worst crime and corruption this country has ever known."
